This Code is an integral component of the Organization's Compliance Program and reflects our commitment to achieve our goals within the framework of the law through a high standard of business ethics and compliance.

This Code of Conduct will address many areas, but is not intended to be the only source of guidance. Some topics may require additional guidance and we will attempt to provide such guidance through a variety of means. Every employee should be aware that he or she has the responsibility to seek guidance and directions whenever he or she is unsure of the appropriateness of any particular course of action.

Q. What if I want to anonymously report a compliance issue?

A. Jackson Hospital has established a "Healthcare Values Line" through Pinkerton Company to provide access for employees to voice questions and/or concerns twenty-four hours a day, seven days a week. Each call will remain confidential and will be investigated thoroughly. You are urged to direct your questions or concerns regarding compliance to the Compliance Officer if at all possible. The toll free number for the "Healthcare Values Line" is posted at all Jackson Hospital time clocks and other key locations in the hospital.

Code Of Conduct

Q. Can I get in trouble for asking questions or voicing concerns about issues I think are not “in compliance”?

A. No. If an employee has a serious concern regarding an activity that they believe is inappropriate, they should report it to the Compliance Officer or through the “Healthcare Values Line”. Even if the matter is found to be “in compliance” after investigation, there can be no retribution for the employee who reported it.

Q. Can I get in trouble for not reporting a compliance issue that I am aware of?

A. Yes. An employee who knows about a serious compliance issue and fails to report it is subject to disciplinary action similar to those who are actually involved in the issue of non-compliance.

Q. How will I know if a regulation or law changes?

A. The Compliance Officer will work with all Jackson Hospital managers to keep all employees informed of new or changing regulations and laws. Update information will also include guidance on how to comply.

Q. How do we know if we are doing things right?

A. Each department has certain laws and regulations which are specific to their area and function. Part of the Department Managers responsibility is to make sure that their department abides by applicable laws, regulations and policies and procedures. Steps must be taken when policies are written and new services developed to maintain compliance with the laws and regulations which govern them.

Q. What are the penalties for violating compliance policies?

A. Violations of compliance policies can result in discipline that may include termination and civil or criminal prosecution. You should contact the Compliance Officer or Director of Human Resources to address specific concerns.

JACKSON HOSPITAL LEGAL COMPLIANCE PROGRAM GENERAL POLICY STATEMENT

It is the policy of Jackson Hospital to provide services in compliance with all state and federal laws governing its operations, and consistent with the highest standards of business and professional ethics. This policy is a solemn commitment to our patients, to our community, to those government agencies that regulate Jackson Hospital and to ourselves. In order to ensure that Jackson Hospital's compliance policies are consistently applied, Jackson Hospital has established a legal and regulatory compliance program. The program is directed by a Compliance Committee and a Compliance Officer, who are charged with reviewing our compliance policies and specific compliance situations that may arise.

All Jackson Hospital employees, as well as those professionals who enjoy staff membership, must carry out their duties for Jackson Hospital in accordance with this policy. Any violation of applicable law, or deviation from appropriate ethical standards, will subject an employee or independent professional to disciplinary action, which may include oral or written warning, disciplinary probation, suspension, reduction in salary, demotion, dismissal from employment, or revocation of privileges. These disciplinary actions also may apply to an employee's supervisor (or a staff member's department manager) who directs or approves the employee's improper actions, or is aware of those actions but does not act appropriately to correct them; or who otherwise fails to exercise appropriate supervision.

The Legal Compliance Program includes statements of the hospital's policy in a number of specific areas. All employees and professional staff members must comply with these policies, which define the scope of Jackson Hospital employment and professional staff membership. Conduct that does not comply with these statements is not authorized by Jackson Hospital, is outside the scope of Jackson Hospital employment and professional staff membership, and may subject employees and professional staff members to disciplinary action. If a question arises as to whether any action complies with Jackson Hospital policies or applicable law, an employee should present that question to that employee's supervisor, or, if appropriate, directly to the Compliance Officer, or to a member of the Compliance Committee. All employees should review this Legal Compliance Plan from time to time to make sure that these policies guide their actions on behalf of the hospital.

If, at any time, any employee or professional staff member becomes aware of any apparent violation of Jackson Hospital's policies, he or she must report it to his or her supervisor (in the case of an employee) or to the Compliance Officer. All persons making such reports are assured that such reports are treated as confidential; such reports will be shared only on a bona fide need-to-know basis. Jackson Hospital will take no adverse action against persons making such reports, whether or not the report ultimately proves to be well-founded. If an employee or professional staff member does not report
